Recycling facility nears

by Janice Harrington

The start of construction for the new Didsbury recycling facility is drawing nearer after the Didsbury Lion's club agreed to supply volunteer labor to erect the building.

Lion's club president Brian Banfield said his club voted in favor of volunteering their time and effort for the project at their last meeting.

"But isn't just the members of our club who have volunteered," Banfield said. "We have others too and are always looking for more help."

Construction of the facility, which will be located adjacent to the public works yard in Didsbury, is expected to begin later this month once final tenders are received and quotes accepted. Town Administrator Mike Storey said most quotes on the materials and structure for the facility are in but they are currently working on specs for the electrical and mechanical work before they can send those out for tender.

Both the town and the Lion's expect construction of the facility will happen quickly once all the plans are laid and volunteers are organized. Volunteer labor will be used to help erect the structure only. Electrical and heating work will be handled by skilled tradesmen.

Total cost to construct the facility is expected to come in under $30,000.

The facility, once complete, will house recycling equipment to handle plastic, glass and paper waste from town residents. The town recently received a grant of almost $30,000 to cover the cost of recycling equipment needed to process the material to saleable condition. Markets to purchase the goods have already been established and are waiting for the town supply to begin.

Banfield said the Lion's Club will be managing the facility with the help of local community groups. The groups will be given the opportunity to work in the facility, preparing recyclable material for market, and will be paid to do it.

"If any groups are interested in this as a fundraiser, we will have a schedule prepared soon, so they can contact the Lion's club to get involved," he said.

Volunteers who would like to help with the construction are also asked to contact Lion's Club member Russ Croft.

The recycling facility is expected to begin operations by the end of June.

Didsbury urged to beat Hanna

by Janice Harrington

Organizers of this year's Canada Fit Week and the Participation Day challenge are urging Didsburians to take to the streets to help beat Hanna.

Spokesperson Russ Croft said the committee is planning a number of inventive activities to help get residents out for their 15 minutes of exercise in the fitness challenge that will pit the Town of Didsbury against the Town of Hanna.

"They have taken up the gauntlet and are willing to take us on," Croft said. "We really need people out so we can show them up."

One of the activities planned for the Participation Day challenge to be held Wednesday, is a celebrity tri-cycle race. Town councillors, rec board members and local business people are pulling old trikes out of garages and dusty attics to participate. Of interest will be the Edvercycle, a special built tricycle currently under construction for Councillor Ed Vermont.

A special relay between Hanna and Didsbury will also take place although final details were not available at press time.

The activities planned by the Fit Week committee will take place starting at 1 pm in the downtown. Residents are also encouraged to engage in any kind of exercise for 15

When I was growing up, the 24th of May was a time to celebrate, a party time, a sort of "welcome summer" time. It was the first dance at Sylvan Lake, a live band and a chance to meet friends you hadn't seen since last May 24th. We always went to the opening at Sylvan Lake, it was a tradition for heaven sake. Well a tradition for 3 or 4 years. Traditions are made and broken pretty easily when you are 16.

Meanwhile, my husband was growing up in a family that viewed May 24th as the time to plant the potatoes. If spring were very early then the potatoes could go in sooner but May 24th weekend was the traditional time for planting potatoes and if the day was nice enough and the garden soil warm enough everything but the corn and beans went in as well.

Guess whose tradition endured? Ralph's Mom and Dad loved this place and loved to garden. They seem awfully close at this time of year.

We have occasionally experimented with planting times. Twice, in the hope of really early vegetables, I seeded carrots, lettuce and spinach in the fall. There was no advantage. In the spring, we put the main garden in at the regular time. None of the seeds germinated until the soil was warmed and by that time both spring and fall sown plants were equally advanced but the weeds were bigger in the fall planting because the soil there had not been disturbed. One very early spring we planted most of the garden on April 17th. I will never do that again. The weed seeds had not yet germinated and so the rototiller did not kill them. Eight billion chickweeds came up with the carrots and had to be laboriously hand pulled. Groundsill hid among the lettuce and flung seeds into the pea rows, vetch grew along with the corn and bound leaves to stalks while thistles, lush as young willows, came up everywhere.

So we went back to, "on or before May 24th." It's a good rule for this part of the country and on May 22 I went out to plant the last of the seeds. They happened to be flower seeds, 3 packages of alyssum to be specific. Alyssum from seed is not my usual method. I usually buy 10 or 12 flats of alyssum but my sister-in-law grows it satisfactorily from seed and this year I am going to see if it works in my garden. I tucked the 3 packages of seed into the breast pocket of my shirt, put on my shoes and gloves and then remembered that I had some nasturtium seeds soaking and that they should be planted first. I left the dish of wet nasturtium seeds on the steps while I prepared a place for them. Two of the tubs that I plant nasturtiums in were a bit low on soil and it was while I was scooping earth from the garden into the wheelbarrow that I first heard the sneaky, mysterious sound. It was a soft sound but sort of menacing. A whispery, slithery sound and not one that I could remember having heard before. I stopped shovelling and listened very carefully. Birds sang, leaves rustled in the breeze, a small plane buzzed somewhere to the east. The slithery sound was silent.

Off and on during the afternoon the sound came back. I would be bent double placing seeds in a row and the whispery sound would seem close enough to touch but the moment I stopped what I was doing and listened quietly it ceased. I heard it when I was near the spruce trees watering in the newly planted nasturtiums. I heard it when I bent to make the rows for the alyssum. It began to sound like a series of quick steps in dry leaves. Like a snake in thick undergrowth. Like a cougar snuffing human scent. Like a giant bat caught in a pail. I was alone on the farm but I like being alone and I am not a nervous person. It takes a lot to frighten me but why did it stop whenever I stood still and listened. Whatever it was it was aware of me and was watching. I was beginning to get nervous. I was tempted to find something to do in the house until my husband came home but I was so close to finishing and darn it the last of the seeds had to be in the ground before May 24th. I reached into my pocket and removed the packets of seed. The slithery sound was very close this time, in fact it was in my hand and the mystery was solved. A large package of alyssum seeds carried in your shirt pocket makes a slithery sound

Election of '93 Question of the week

All four declared candidates in the provincial election race were asked to answer a question on the health care issue so our readers could get an understanding of their policies. Each week we will try to present you with a different question to help you make the right choice at the polls on June 15.

The Question: How do you feel about the state of Alberta Health Care and if elected how would you go about helping local hospitals?

Roy Brassard, Conservative Party candidate

I am very concerned about health care. According to our statistics costs have gone up 175 percent in the past 10 or 11 years while in the same period, our population has only increased 17 percent.

I think all the stakeholders need to come together to talk about the problems and the escalating costs. I also think that there will be the delivery of more health care services in the community in the future.

Locally, we have three hospitals that are all unique, and have their own concerns. For example, Sundre lacks a long term health unit and that is something they need.

I would like to see us more aggressive steps towards attracting doctors. Maybe it should be mandatory that all new doctors have to do one year of service in a rural community. I don't know.

Dennis Coombs, Confederation of Regions Party candidate

Our party takes a totally different point of view. From our standpoint, when you have a hospital, the provincial government should be able to issue their own credit to do the work.

Our province has the right to run our own province. It's rather stupid when you have the hospitals and the nurses ready to work and everything in place and the only concern is the medium of exchange. All our government needs to do is to put the money into circulation. We have the right to distribute our own credit. We don't go in debt by issuing our own provincial credit.

minutes and then to register their efforts by calling 335-8377. Participants can call in as many times as they complete 15 minutes worth of exercising. Croft said exercising can be broadly defined for this challenge.

"Walking, biking, crawling, even gardening fits in," he said. "We don't care what you do just as long as you call in."

when you bend over and straighten up but remains perfectly silent if you are not moving. After all this stress the darn things had better grow.

All we have to do to have a successful MLA is to have them ask the people what they want. They then take that problem back to the legislature and lobby on (the peoples) behalf.

I don't see any problems with the provincial government issuing their own credit to put the nurses back to work.

Donna Gole, Liberal Party candidate

It is a continual process, the rationalization of the health care system. I'd like to see a different approach to the delivery of health care, maybe something different from the medical model, something more preventative.

We have concerns about the Hospital Performance Index (HPI). The HPI penalizes institutes more concerned with long

Hospital Corner

The Board of Trustees of Mountain View Health Care Centre consists of representation from rural as well as urban areas of our hospital district. There are 2 members from the Town of Didsbury - Mr. Raymond Shantz and Mr. Doug Waite 1 member from the Town of Carstairs - Mrs. Patricia Barr 1 member for the rural area of Didsbury west - Mrs. Marion Scott 1 member for Didsbury rural east - Mr. John Kohut 1 member for the south west area toward Cremona - Mr. F. S. (Mick) Earle 1 member for the south east part of the County - Mr. Wayne Layden

According to our bylaws we are required to have at least ten -monthly meetings. Normally our Board has eleven meetings missing the July meeting in the summer. The Board Executive consists of the board chair, vice chair, executive director and chief of medical staff. This year the executive is myself, Wayne Layden (Board Chairman) Doug Waite (Vice Chairman) Dennis Stabber (Executive Director) and Dr. Gallie (Chief of Medical Staff). Our Board works well together and I would like to compliment the members on their dedication and interest in the healthcare field.

The Hospital Act states, "the Board has full control of the hospital and has absolute and final authority in respect to all matters pertaining to the operation of the hospital." District owned nursing homes also fall under that definition, which includes the long; term care area of our centre. Our responsibilities include ensuring both hospital and medical staff bylaws are in place.

Board responsibilities include the development and maintenance of a mission statement that outlines the purpose and resource required to attain our goals, policies on services to be provided, the selection of the chief executive officer (C. E. O.) and the setting and planning of the hospital district's long range goals. One of the major functions of the Board is the selection of the C. E. O. He/she is the only staff member who reports directly to the Board of Trustees. The C. E. O. is entrusted to manage the day-to-day operations of the two facilities (acute care hospital and long term care) and provide the Board with the information required to make sound decisions.

In summary, the hospital board is responsible for the planning and vision of the hospital, lobbying of government, coordination of the medical staff, the financial operation of the hospital and two-way communication with the residents of the hospital district to ensure their needs and concerns are addressed.

We certainly ask for your input. Feel free to write your concerns or ideas to the Hospital Board, c/o the hospital, or telephone any of the Board members. We need your involvement as we plan our future!

Accident injures three

by Janice Harrington

Three people were injured last week when a truck rear ended a car just west of Olds.

Lois Christensen, age 41, of Olds, 42-year-old Ronald Bremner of Red Deer and 20-year-old Tracy Kelly of Sylvan Lake were injured in the crash which occurred about 6 pm on May 22.

Olds RCMP said the car was rear ended while waiting to turn left at the intersection of Highways 27 and 766. Rescuers had to use the Jaws of Life to free the passengers from the car. All three were treated for their injuries at the Olds General Hospital and later released.

RCMP do not believe road or traffic conditions were a factor in the accident. Bremner has been charged with driving without due care and attention. He will appear in Olds Provincial Court to answer to the charges on July 15.

Greetings from Winnipeg

It's nice to take a holiday when you get the chance, it is even more enjoyable when your holiday has a special meaning.

This week, I'm away in sunny Manitoba to celebrate my grandparent's 50th wedding anniversary. Since these kind of occasions are quite rare, I thought it was certainly worth a mention in this column.

I grew up in Winnipeg, never far from my grandparents and my aunt and her family. It was a difficult time when my father was transferred to Calgary and we had to leave all of the relatives 1300 km away. But despite the distance, they have always been there for us, especially my grandparents.

Now in their 70's, my grandparents are quite young to have a 26-year-old granddaughter, but we have a tradition of getting married young on this Icelandic side of the family.

My grandparents, Jeanne and John, were (obviously) married 50 years ago this week. John was a mechanic, and Jeanne was one of those underrated career girls; a home-maker. They raised two daughters, my mother Cheri and the eldest, Darryl. Both the daughters were married young as well. Now both of Jeanne and John's kids have two kids of their own, well into their adulthood, but none of us married yet.

We are a pretty close family, and you can say it is because we have another tradition, a deep rootedness to the family, instilled by Jeanne and John. By example, they taught us to care very much about the family and to never lose touch. We are not only related, we are also friends.

Besides the closeness, my grandparents have also taught us about stability. You don't remain married for 50 years without understanding that concept. We can thankfully say that none on this side of the family have ever been divorced or struggled through horrific family problems that many families are plagued with today. Those married in that family were able to choose well and have had the background and teachings to allow them to stay married. A valuable lesson.

Just by themselves though, my grandparents are pretty incredible people (and I'm not just saying that because I am the eldest grandchild and the most spoiled). They have always given their time freely and to every cause they believed in, be it inside or outside the family. They have always tried to help, and usually succeeded whenever they did. They have always been a source of comfort and faith and a wellspring of history and tradition.

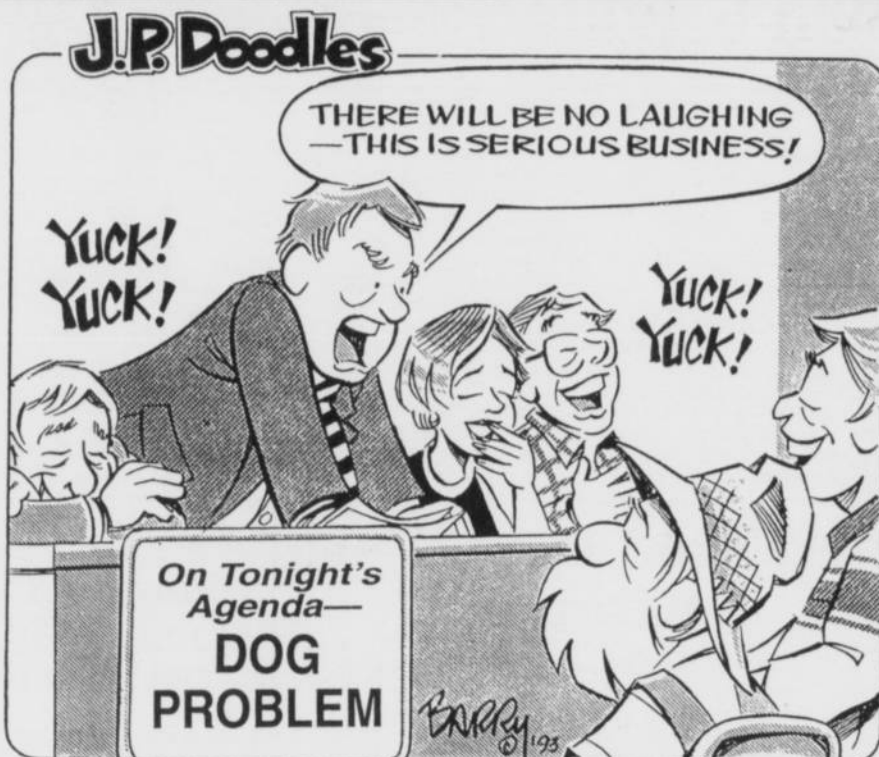

I have learned many valuable lessons from my grandparents as individuals as well. From my grandfather I learned the value of patience and love of animals. From my grandmother I learned how to be unique and to enjoy my lot, whatever it was. Both always made me feel cherished and special. I hope that I have been able to return the favor.

Happy anniversary Grandma and Grandpa.

Response on the helicopter issue

Dear Editor:

Let me offer a different perspective from that of Fred Fowlow, of The Naval Officers Association of Canada, on our government's plan to purchase 50 EH 101 helicopters.

My opinion is we should not go ahead with this purchase. Less costly, prudent alternatives do exist.

The only helicopters Canada really needs are those capable of maritime patrol, transport roles and sea search-and-rescue. The U.S. Navy's primary shipborne helicopter, the Seahawk, handles all of these roles (including sub-hunting; clearly not needed) but still costs less than half as much as the EH 101.

The EH 101 helicopter is simply too expensive for post-Cold War requirements. The program should be cancelled. Canadian taxpayers cannot afford to waste billions of dollars on needlessly sophisticated helicopters while we continue to face underfunded environmental and social needs.

A more realistic program of shipborne and search-and-rescue helicopters should cost no more than $2 billion.

Sincerely,
Ron Tyler

A vote against censorship

Dear Editor:

I am writing to express my concern for censorship in this town. The Video View have X-rated movies for rent. The movies are stored discretely behind closed doors. You must be an adult to rent these movies. As an adult you have the right to decide to rent them or not to. It is entirely up to you! I strongly resent anyone making this decision for other adults.

Is knowing this material is available a temptation to those of you opposed? What is the problem here? If you choose not to rent this material - don't. If I choose not to read a certain book, watch a certain program, I simply do not do it. However, if someone else chooses to do so, that is none of my business. As for keeping the material from children, the video store sets its restrictions; as parents we are all responsible for our own children. After all, we do not ban liquor sales, prescription drugs, cars, and many other potentially hazardous items.

Seat belt kvetching versus tombstone etching

by Elaine Wilson

When the RCMP implemented a seat belt blitz from May 25 to May 28 they were targeting people like me who hate seat belts and refuse to wear them.

Earnest testimonials dispensed by motorists who credited their survival to their buckled seat belt fell on deaf ears. Who listens to these people anyway? Certainly not me. I've always placed seat belt cheerleaders in the same self-righteous category as reformed smokers.

My own sister is one of those annoying people who won't put the key into the ignition until everyone is belted in. She's endured plenty of grief over her stand, largely from her big sister. I admit it's comforting to know that if the unthinkable happened and she was involved in a serious car accident chances are I'd probably still have a little sister, but that didn't mean I had to follow her example.

Harnessing yourself up like a plow horse is bad enough, but once you're buckled in, something as simple as changing the radio station becomes just a tad less exasperating than sharing an ice cream cone through a screen window.

My husband and I appreciate good sound although we can't seem to agree on what constitutes good music. The station selector button on the car stereo is shiny from constant use. But what's the point of installing an Alpine deck if you can't reach the controls?

Two recent events finally altered my narrow perspective.

The first involved coverage of a serious car accident. Seeing the amount of damage to the car involved up close was truly sobering. The twisted metal had to be cut away by an emergency crew to free the driver. She'd been wearing a seat belt and received only minor injuries. I admit it got to me. I buckled up before I drove away.

But I hate that nasty uncomfortable thing and after a couple of days I was back to my old habits.

Later in the week I was cruising through a radar trap with a clear conscience knowing I was proceeding well within the legal limit. When the police car swung out behind me, lights blazing, I was honestly mystified for about two seconds. It was inevitable that our local crime enforcement unit would nail me eventually. I was breaking the law after all, and I'd been driving on borrowed time for years.

"I didn't even think about the seat belt thing until I saw you," I said to the bemused officer who undoubtedly heard similar inane comments three or four times a day.

"I'm a great reminder," he responded.

While waiting for my ticket I made a valiant attempt to appear nonchalant. When that failed miserably, I decided to use the time productively, mentally erasing the names of every grinning buddy who drove by from my party list.

From now on you won't catch me driving two blocks unless I'm belted in and it wasn't the $25.00 fine that did it. It wasn't the accident I covered either. It was the utter mortification of being trapped in my car on the busiest intersection in my home town, providing free entertainment for just about everyone I know. (You would think mature adults would be able to resist the urge to point, wave and giggle when they should have been paying attention to the road.)

Living in a small town where you know everyone and everyone knows you often comes in handy, but in this case it could wind up saving my life.

Thanks to our local RCMP I probably don't have to worry about things like epitaphs for a few additional years, but I decided to draft one up anyway just to reinforce my newfound resolve:

"Please buckle up when you leave the cemetery. But before you do, for old times sake, reach over and tune in a decent radio station, would you? Thanks."

Response to budget cuts

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to respond to the questions raised in the letter "Frightening Look at Budget Cuts" from "Name Withheld By Request".

As Board Chairman, I would like to make it clear that the Mountain View Health Care Centre is, and has for many years, been financially sound and well managed. Over the years there has actually been a surplus fund accumulated which has been used to purchase equipment, to provide extra programs and to cover a small deficit.

We have merged the management of some departments in an effort to cut costs, and presently don't feel we can reduce administration any further and still be able to provide information to Alberta Health in a timely manner. If we do not provide this information promptly, Alberta Health will withhold our monthly grants. The Hospital Board is an elected body, and in some cases appointed, where no one has offered to run in their area. Their names are readily available and we are continually looking for community input. Information from board meetings is shared with staff where possible, and we would welcome more coverage of Board concerns and policy by the media. Our Board meets the first Tuesday of each month at 9:30 a.m.

Regarding the $250,000 to be cut from our budget, this is an estimate of what the budget of May 6, 1993 could mean to our hospital. Premier Klein announced that $127 million would be cut from the hospital budget province-wide. This was an unknown at the time of our budgeting in March, and is causing serious concern in all hospitals in Alberta. Approximately 80 percent of our budget is comprised of wages and benefits and therefore, to accommodate large funding reductions, salaries must be reduced which in turn could cause bed closures and/or programs to be eliminated. The local Board only administers the funds and programs, we do not generate the money - it comes from government after being collected in taxes. Local ratepayers do not contribute any funding directly through property taxes. The people of Alberta have told the government to cut spending and this is the result of that message. Our Board is very concerned about the effects of anyone losing their job, but if we don't have the funding, we have no choice. Our policy is that if there is to be any rollback of wages it will be from the top down and be hospital-wide. Only previously negotiated union wage increases and settlements will occur, and administrative and management salaries are tied to a grid and determined by the union settlements. To end the rumor, management has not received a raise.

In an effort to spend funds wisely and control costs, a recommendation was put forth to the Board to temporarily close ten beds for the summer. Occupancy figures from previous years indicate that the requirement for beds declines during the summer months.

Therefore, the closure would save dollars and still allow for the same level of patient care as in the past. The decision was not made because we do not have sufficient money, but rather because it is an efficient way to operate and save scarce funds. In discussion with medical staff it was agreed that if the ten beds were required due to increased activity, the beds could then be reinstated.

Any programs or services which are offered at Mountain View Health Care Centre will only be carried out by adequate staff with proper training. If a service cannot be done safely and properly, as a result of pending funding reductions, then the service will have to be discontinued.

We would encourage the taxpayers of this area to talk to your M.L.A. and election candidates about the future of rural health care. What are your expectations, and are you willing to pay more taxes to keep full health services in every rural area? Are you in agreement with the process of centralization and regionalization as proposed by the previous Health Minister to contain costs? This is an issue we are addressing in cooperation with Olds and Sundre, who share our concerns.

Thank you to "Name Withheld" for bringing these issues to the forefront. Now is the time to make your views known to your candidate who will be setting hospital funding policy, and to assist your Hospital Board to make the right decisions with limited funds.

Thank you.
S. Wayne Layden

Open letter to Roy Brassard

Dear Editor:

To quote your leader Mr. Klein, from May 26, 1993 pg. A1 of the Calgary Herald, "Rural Albertans are also proud of the level of care available to them close to home...We know we must streamline and improve our health care system." This local institution has already received a $150,000 decrease in funding over 2 years. Now we discover that a further 5 percent is in order for 1993 and for an unknown number of consecutive years. Can you honestly guarantee that the lives and care of these people will not be drastically altered in a few years.

As it is, staff struggle with less hands to maintain a high quality of care for these seniors. It was interesting to note that on pg. A5 of the same paper, Mr. Ed Struzik, an Edmonton journalist has written, "Liberal Leader Laurence Decore, for example, suggested he would do exactly what the Conservatives have been contemplating - close a number of rural and city hospitals in order to reduce the deficit." With a yearly 5 percent decrease in funding from your government, it appears to me as if your Conservatives are no longer contemplating this option. These people who elected you deserve security and answers from your party.

Airport soars to new heights

by Elaine Wilson

As the Olds-Didsbury Airport gears up for their open house on June 12, the facility will also be celebrating a ten year anniversary.

A little more than a decade ago the present site of the Olds-Didsbury Airport was just an empty field dotted with survey markers. Today it is perhaps the finest facility of its kind in the province.

"I have been to over 50 airports throughout Alberta and the United States and have found the Olds-Didsbury Airport to be by far the best airport that serves a local community," said Grant Edwards, a flying instructor and president of the Olds-Didsbury Flying Association.

When the provincial government instituted the Alberta Airport Development Program in 1975, local aviation enthusiasts immediately began assessing the feasibility of establishing a public licensed airport. Later that same year the present site was approved as suitable for airport development by Transport Canada. Preliminary survey work commenced in 1979 and base paving began in 1982. Aircraft were already making regular use of the airport by the time the grand opening was held in the summer of 1983.

Olds-Didsbury Airport Commission members Paul Gervais and Ed Vermunt said that the airport has come a long way in 10 years.

"When the airport was first opened all there was was a runway, a taxi-way and an apron. There was nothing else. No buildings," Gervais said.

"The terminal was the first building to go up," Vermunt added. "The first hangar was built in 1983."

The smooth runways and landscaped grounds are backdrop to a multitude of developments and services. The 2950 x 75 foot paved runway is augmented by an emergency cross-wind grass runway built to handle potentially dangerous landings complicated by chinooks and other heavy winds. An airfield lighting system was completed in the spring of 1983, netting a DAY/NIGHT VFR licence, which is basically a 'good-weather' non-instrumentation rating. The airport also boasts a rotating beacon, a lighted wind-sock, a tie-down area, navigational aids and a parking apron. Fuel is available on the tarmac and the terminal itself is a brightly lit, pleasant facility where weary pilots and passengers can stretch out for a nap, enjoy an assortment of hot and cold beverages or make a telephone call. A courtesy car is also available for out of town pilots.

At some provincial community airports, inadequate facilities can mean pilots must wait out bad weather or late passenger arrivals in the cramped cockpit of their airplane. At the Olds-Didsbury Airport, pilots are welcome to stretch their legs on a stroll around the grounds, curl up for a nap, or rustle up a cup of hot chocolate in the heated terminal.

A count of the airport registry confirmed well over 500 airplanes took to the skies out of

It's your health care system

Your health care system is about to change - a "fundamental re-structure" say the politicians.

What does that mean?

Well, it really means finding cost-effective ways to do more with less. One good way is to focus on low-tech, low cost care that helps people avoid high-cost medical treatment.

Preventative care — helping people stay healthy — is a good way to reduce strain on the medical system. And, it saves money in the long run.

We're Alberta's Chiropractors, and we're working hard to make sure that your health care system is changed for the better.

We believe that with a focus on preventative, cost-effective health care, Albertans — and Alberta's economic future — will be healthier in the long run.

If you want to talk to us about Alberta's health care system, we're ready to listen.

COR enters race

by Janice Harrington

The local Confederation of Regions Party entered the provincial race this week with a nominee for the Olds/Didsbury constituency seat.

Dennis Coombs, owner of the Mountain View Professional Driving School was nominated by the party to take on the Conservatives, Liberals and New Democrats at a nomination meeting held last week.

In a press released issued by the party, Coombs said restoring control to the people of the riding is his first priority. He also said he wants the provincial government to reconsider equalization payments Alberta makes to the rest of Canada.

"We must realize that between 1961 and 1988 Alberta put $150 billion more into Canada than it got back while almost all other provinces took more out of Canada than they put in," he said. "Our government must put a priority on looking after Alberta and think twice about equalization payments which have pillaged our province."

Coombs is the fourth nominee to put his name forward for the legislative seat in the Olds/Didsbury riding. He faces competition from incumbent Tory Roy Brassard, Liberal Donna Gole and ND Ruth Scott.

Pesticide import program proposed

Agriculture Canada has developed a proposal for public consideration which would allow growers to import designated pesticides for their own use.

The proposed Pesticide Own-Use Import Program -- which would require an amendment to the Pest Control Products Regulations -- is in response to a key recommendation of the Pesticide Registration Review. It suggested Canadian agricultural producers be given access to competitively priced pesticides without compromising public safety. The review was conducted by representatives from farm, forestry and chemical industries, as well as environmental, health, research and consumer groups.

Under the program -- proposed May 1, 1993 in the Canada Gazette -- only products equivalent to those registered in Canada could be imported. The proposal would require that Canadian health, safety and environmental standards be met. As well, provincial and federal legislation governing the sale, use and storage of pesticides would be strictly adhered to.

Interested parties are encouraged to offer their input on the proposal. Comments will be accepted for a 60 day period ending June 29, 1993.

Housing project hits a snag

by Elaine Wilson

Although the need for senior oriented housing is acknowledged by everyone concerned, objections by residents living adjacent to land earmarked for a proposed seniors housing project may put the venture in jeopardy.

Residents expressed concern the re-zoning to allow the proposed development might cause a drop in the value of their land. Other concerns involved several unanticipated changes to the original plan which had originally included a green 'buffer zone'. Another area of concern was the issue of inserting the designation 'direct control' into the proposed re-zoning bylaw. Letters from concerned residents were read and a delegation of home owners from the area addressed councillors at the May 25 town council meeting.

Pat Hovan of Supportive Housing Group Inc., produced letters he'd received in support of the project from MLA Roy Brassard and Minister of Health Shirley McLellan.

Wayne Notley spoke on behalf of the Olds Hospital and expressed the hope that the project would be allowed to proceed.

"[Patients currently placed in long term care in Olds Hospital] would be looked after in this facility that shouldn't be in our care," Notley said. "With the way the funding system is being indexed the hospital just can't afford to care for people that aren't in serious need. It would help the hospital and we're in favour of it."

Olds resident Chic Miller, also spoke in favour of proceeding with the project. "I'm not really naive enough to believe that [the project developers] are doing this thing for compassionate reasons," he said. "Certainly they intend to make some money out of the deal. But in so doing, I think they're doing a great thing for Olds. It's something that's been needed for a long time. I know, because I'm getting close to that stage. It's really tough when older people have to leave their homes, but it's compounded greatly when they have to leave their town."

Home Help Services spokesperson Chris Van Reekum said there is a genuine need for such a project.

"Through my job I am regularly in contact with couples where one spouse is still healthy and the other is deteriorating. It's hard to find living accommodations where the couple can stay together. It always hurts terribly when the couple has to split up. Also a lot of older people don't feel safe. Here they would always feel safe and looked after. If they lived in their own home they wouldn't have to rely on government controlled handouts which for many is now the case."

Councillor Glenn Elmer addressed the direct control issue.

"My understanding is that direct control of that land by council was put in there to keep control of any development that was going in there to satisfy the people that showed concern," he said. "This isn't a bill of sale. They're going to have to come to us and satisfy what we feel should go in there. I think that's where the direct control comes in. If you re-zone something, you can't deny the people that buy the land what they want put on it. This is what we've tried to come to grips with. We have every intention of trying to get a development in there that will satisfy everybody."

Mayor Bob Armstrong cautioned those assembled not to "put the cart before the horse."

"This is a zoning hearing not a development hearing," Armstrong said.

Pat Hovan, Project Manager of Supportive Housing Group Inc., understood the need to proceed in an orderly fashion but noted time is also a consideration.

"We've kept in very close touch with town management and were encouraged by your comments," Hovan said. "We've made changes to the plan after input from local residents. From a timing standpoint if [the delay] extends considerably from this time we're facing winter building problems and we'll be looking at other sites."

Pool prospects pondered

by Elaine Wilson

In a letter to Robert Smith, Chairman of the Olds College Board of Governors dated April 30, 1993, Advanced Education Minister Jack Ady advised that no provincial funding would be forthcoming for the proposed Town of Olds/ Olds College aquatic training centre.

Roberta Hammer, town staff representative on the swimming pool steering committee, said in lieu of government funding, money would have to be borrowed in the form of a debenture to build the aquatic centre. A tax hike would inevitably follow but input from ratepayers, college students and personnel, and other affected parties would be gathered and studied before proceeding with construction.

"Where we build it and in fact whether or not we build it will go to plebiscite," Hammer said. "We will be holding public meetings and asking for input on the best way to proceed with the swimming pool."

Hammer added that when the basics are finalized, the steering committee will be looking for input and guidance from individual citizens. Olds swimming clubs, the Mountain View Association for the Mentally Handicapped and students and instructors representing every age group and special needs group in the community.

The issue of pool location concerns parents who would like to see the facility located centrally instead of on campus at the Olds College. Steering committee chairman Warren Smith feels the Olds College campus is an ideal site and feels transportation logistics can be worked out in a fashion agreeable to all parties.

Olds College foresees no problem with locating the proposed pool on campus should all parties concerned agree to proceed. The chief concern in these tight financial times is budgetary. A motion passed by the Olds College Board of Governors at their regular May 20 meeting says:

"The Olds College Board of Governors invites the Town of Olds to construct an indoor pool complex on College property with the understanding that the College will use its best efforts to contribute to the development and ongoing operation of the complex in a manner that protects the annual operation grant and safeguards the allocation of resources to core programs and services."

Raising funds to build the pool should not be the major concern, town council steering committee liaison Glenn Elmer pointed out. "I don't care who you are, if you buy a car you know what the initial payment is going to be. It's the operational part. If the motor goes it helps if you have a partner to help pay half."

Both town and college representatives agree there are numerous advantages in locating the aquatic centre at the college.

"There's the land," Elmer said. "And they're also offering expertise that we would have to pay for on the open market such as plumbers and electricians. As far as the college and town are concerned, we really have to stress we're in this as partners."

Olds College would consider relocating their Fitness Centre to the aquatic complex. Parking space is already available and landscaping would be provided. Reduced costs would be reflected in items such as cleaning supplies, utilities and office supplies by making use of the college's volume buying power. A security system is already in place at the college as is a caretaking service.

The next move is drafting a realistic design which the swimming pool steering committee will begin working on in early June.

"It all boils down to money," Elmer said. "We realize times aren't quite as good as they could be."

Hammer advised joint fund raising plans combining Town and College sources and resources are being formulated and a plebiscite will most likely take place around the middle of September of 1993.

"If we got the go-ahead building could begin as early as 1994. We're looking at about 12 to 14 months construction time, so the earliest it would be open would be 1995," she said.

"I think we can swing it," Elmer said, "but we're not going to shove it down anybody's throat."

SUNDRE / WESTWARD HO

Expansion planned for year old bar and grill

by Janice Harrington

Not even a year old, the Outlaw Bar and Grill is already planning an expansion.

Owner Brian McTaggart said the restaurant and lounge which he runs with his brother Craig has been doing so well, they are planning to double the size of the bar.

"We have really been pleased with the business. We are right where we expected to be at this time," he said. "Now we are looking to do more."

McTaggart said they want to expand the bar side of the business, taking it into a more sports bar type of atmosphere.

"We are doubling the size and we plan to put on a roof top deck, and add pool tables and dart boards and we just got a big screen T.V.," he said. "We have some other renovations also on the go but they are more on the restaurant side of things."

The McTaggarts opened up Outlaws last August in the oldest house in Sundre. The house, which boasted the first running water system in the town, has been redecorated to live up to its history.

"We've got wood floors and wood ceilings, a lot of wood," McTaggart said. "And we have a lot of antiques. We really went for the atmosphere."

But the bar and grill, which opens up at 11 am to serve lunch and dinner crowds, doesn't only boast about its ambience.

"We've got some fine dining here too," McTaggart said. "We can get people in once with atmosphere but you have to keep them with the food."

CARSTAIRS

Book organizers call for more info

by Janice Harrington

Organizers of the Carstairs history book are sending a call out for more historical information.

Brian Longeway, spokesperson for the group, said more family histories are needed to help make the book as complete as it can be made about the history of Carstairs and the surrounding area.

"We would like a history of your family, from its earliest connections to Carstairs up to their latest connections to Carstairs," Longeway said in a press release. "We would like a couple of photos from every family and pictures of your family or interesting objects."

Currently, volunteers working on the creation of the book are busy collecting the information and photos. They hope to include over 100 photos and 800 pages of information. The book will have two sections, one dealing specifically with family histories. The other section will include general history and interest. This section will be broken down into parts on commerce, education, religion, sports, organization and pioneer history.

Longeway said anyone needing information about the book or about submitting information should write to him at The Carstairs History Book Committee, c/o Brian Longeway, Box 820, Carstairs, Alberta, T0M 0N0.

Book reservations can be made by submitting a $40 deposit. The committee is attempting to keep the final cost to under $50. The book is expected to be released in 1995.

Mount View Lodge news

by Annie Caush

Hi all! Hope all are enjoying our lovely spring! We have been remarking around here that the flowering shrubs and trees have seldom been so beautiful.

Last week one day a number of us went in the Legion Seniors van to Sundre. We visited the Sundre Museum and then had dinner at the Foothills Retreat Lodge where we really enjoyed our visit with their residents. On the way to Sundre we saw a peacock, an ostrich farm and some tame buffalo. Did you know we had that many exotic birds and animals in our vicinity? It was a most enjoyable day.

The May Birthday Party was hosted by Auxiliary members, Mrs. Freida Bartz and Mrs. Pat

Rosenke. The "Senior C's" band provided a lovely afternoon of entertainment and the ladies served us a lovely lunch. Those celebrating May birthdays are Mr. Christensen and Mr. Dawson.

At the recent shuffleboard tournament, the winners were - "A" side: Laura Watkins and Stan Yewell and "B" side: Dorothy Baird and Pat Wheaton. The crib tournament winners were Gladys Dawson and Monica Jackson.

Our two new residents are Mrs. Donald and Mrs. Schlag. We welcome you and hope you soon feel at home with us.

In hospital we have Mrs. Schmelke and Mr. Dawson. We hope you feel much better soon.

A Freeze On New Doctors In Rural Alberta?

The Board of the Alberta Medical Association is pursuing an "immediate freeze on physician resources" in Alberta. Internes and residents requested that the proposed freeze not include residents trained in Alberta, but that request was turned down. Didsbury directly affected Didsbury could be directly affected. One new doctor has already made arrangements to come to Didsbury this summer. Whether a freeze is implemented fast enough to affect this doctor, we don't know for sure - but if it's not this group of doctors, it could be the next.

What you can do

Didsbury and other communities should have the right to attract Alberta trained doctors, now and in the future. Let your candidates in the provincial election know exactly how you feel, if you agree that new doctors matter to Alberta. Call the Alberta Medical Association, and call the Minister of Health's office.

And call us to let us know how you feel. We're the internes and residents who have trained in Alberta, and we want to work in our province. We ask you to support our efforts to serve Alberta communities.

ratic driving when the accident was discovered.

Reading specialist coming to Didsbury

A well known Calgary psychologist will be speaking in Didsbury this week.

Dr. Steve Truch of The Reading Foundation will hold a lecture at the College Green Medical Centre on Wednesday, June 2 beginning at 7 pm.

Dr. Truch is the director of The Reading Foundation, which uses specialized therapy programs to help clients overcome reading problems. Located in Calgary, The Reading Foundation is one of only two clinics in Canada using a phonics approach to learning reading.

Truch, who has a Ph.D in Educational Psychology, will be speaking on the diagnosis and treatment of learning disabilities at the Didsbury lecture. Besides his directing job with The Reading Foundation, Truch has also written four books: "Teacher Burnout and What To Do About It", "The WISC-R Companion", "The TM Technique and The Art of Learning" and "The Missing Parts of Whole Language". Before taking over as director in 1990, Truch worked

Royal Tyrrell Museum installs new exhibit

Staff at the Royal Tyrrell Museum recently gave a boost to a big pterosaur, suspending the giant flying reptile high above the Museum's famed dinosaur gallery. Depicting a sub-adult Quetzacoatlus, the largest creature to have ever taken flight, the model is the Museum's newest life-like replica.

Created by local palaeontologist and artist, Dr. Stephen Godfrey, the model is a scientifically accurate palaeo-sculpture. An unusual looking reptile, the Tyrrell's Quetzacoatlus, or 'feathered serpent' has an extremely long, slender neck and head, but no tail. Its long narrow beak is toothless, and its body looks like it's covered by skin rather than scales. Posing as if it was "coming in for a landing," the exhibit makes it easy to imagine this giant pterosaur swooping down to scoop up fish from a shallow pool.

Fossils from Quetzacoatlus, collected at Dinosaur Provincial park in southeastern Alberta, show flying reptiles similar in size to the Museum's new exhibit. Like the exhibit, these pterosaurs had wingspans of eight metres and co-existed with the dinosaurs some 76 million years ago.

The first Quetzacoatlus fossil discovered in Alberta was found in 1989. Last summer, staff from the Tyrrell Museum uncovered more remains. Fossilized bones from flying reptiles are rare. Like birds, their bones were thin-walled, hollow, and filled with air sacs. Alive, this reptile would have tipped the scale at a mere 88 kilograms. The Tyrrell's fleshed-out model, crafted of steel and fibreglass, weighs in slightly heavier at about 100 kilograms.

Watch for this new exhibit, now "hanging out" at the Royal Tyrrell Museum, six kilometres northwest of Drumheller on Highway 838. Operated by Alberta Community Development, the Royal Tyrrell Museum began summer hours May 22. Open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily.

Recreation views

by Ken Luck

I would like to take this opportunity to share with you some of the details associated with the recent adoption of revised user policy for the Didsbury Memorial Complex. At the May 4 meeting of Town Council, Council endorsed recommendation of the Recreation and Culture Board approving some relatively major changes in respect to community usage of venues located within the complex, in particular the multi-purpose hall, the arena and aquatic centre. It is our hope that the revised user policies will encourage and entice a variety of uses by a variety of groups.

Listed below is the rental rate schedule for the multi-purpose hall:

Youth Programming (includes school students at Ross Ford, Westglen, Didsbury High and those local groups in which the majority of participants are under 18 years of age) - no rental fee; refundable damage/clean-up deposit of $50; kitchen use; light lunch $20, banquet $50.

Public Service Programs

(events and activities offered to the community as a public service. Includes: $10 per hour for use of multi-purpose hall; kitchen use, as above; $50 for use of bar; a refundable damage/clean-up deposit is required.

Community Service Programs (local events sponsored by community service groups whose primary objectives are to benefit the community through the program - $15 per hour for use of multi-purpose hall; kitchen use, as above; $50 for use of bar; a refundable damage/clean-up deposit is required.

Commercial/Private (Private or commercial programs, political gatherings, weddings, reunions, Arts & Crafts Fair) - $20 per hour for use of multi-purpose hall; kitchen use, as above; $50 for use of bar; a refundable damage/clean-up deposit is required.

Out of Town or Profit Groups - $50 per hour for use of multi-purpose hall; kitchen use, as above; $50 for use of bar; a refundable damage/clean-up deposit is required.

The Memorial Complex Arena features user rates for both off-season and fall and winter usage. Listed below are the details:

Youth Programming - no

rental fee; refundable damage/clean-up deposit of $100.

Recreation Board Programming - $25 per hour rental fee; refundable damage/clean-up deposit of $100.

Community Organizations - $40 per hour rental fee; refundable damage/clean-up deposit of $100.

Commercial or Private - $80 per hour rental fee; refundable damage/clean-up deposit of $100.

Concession Rental - $50 per event; $50 damage/clean-up deposit.

Summer fun plans underway

by Janice Harrington

Summer is shaping up to be an exciting time for Didsbury children and teens, especially if Laurie Snyder has anything to say about it.

And Snyder, as the new senior programming coordinator for the Recreation Department, certainly does.

Snyder, along with 2 summer fun leaders, is busy planning a summer Didsbury kids won't soon forget.

"I'm trying to change summer fun so that it supplies recreational and learning experiences through special events, games, drama, music and sport," said the 20-year-old Education student.

Snyder said this year will focus on special themes for the summer fun program and each special theme will hopefully highlight a special guest.

"For example, one of our theme's is 'Horror for Hollywood'." Snyder, who attends Red Deer College. "We are trying to get puppeteers and musicians and a storyteller in for that."

Some of the special events for summer fun this year include a trip to the Sylvan Lake water slides, Cochrane Ranche and the Calgary planetarium. Teens won't be left out. Snyder said special teen events like the Much Music Video Dance Party, a trip to the rock laser show in Calgary and a basketball clinic are being planned.

The summer fun program takes up to 20 to 30 children a day, in 4 sessions per day. Snyder said the sessions are separated into games/reading/drama, special events/special guests, physical activity and outdoor sports and crafts and reading. Each session is open to children 3 to 12-years-old.

Registration for the summer fun program begins June 14 at the recreation office. A registration night will be held June 23.

Ready for some summer fun

Laurie Snyder was recently hired on as the town's senior programming coordinator. Snyder is spending the summer organizing special events and the Summer Fun program.

THERE'S NO ALTERNATIVE TO CONCRETE

Concrete is the basement building material with all the advantages.

It's a proven performer. Rugged Tough. Durable. A concrete basement will never burn or rot.
And concrete is safe. Quality-controlled, concrete needs no toxic chemicals which may be hazardous to building occupants.

Concrete is an energy-wise choice.
A concrete basement needs little heat or air-conditioning. And concrete walls are easily insulated.

Economically, concrete is a good investment. A concrete basement will add years of life to the foundation and considerable dollars to the resale value of your building.

Add up the advantages. There's simply no alternative to quality controlled concrete. The best basement building material.

Airport

the Olds-Didsbury Airport in the last 12 months, "a very conservative estimate," said Paul Gervais who acknowledged pilots sometimes fail to sign the register. The airport can handle executive jets and mid-sized turbo props, and is routinely used by government officials on rural runs.

The Olds-Didsbury Airport is meticulously maintained by enthusiastic volunteers and Airport Commission members are quick to point out you won't find any potholes in their runways.

"If you really want to know how good the airport is, ask the Alberta government pilots because they go around to them all," said Airport Commission member Ruf May. "Those guys fly in here with Brassard and sleep on the chesterfield or take the courtesy car and go grab a hamburger. And here, they've at least got a warm place to wait."

Thirty airplanes are currently based at the airport. Existing hangars are full but a new hangar complex featuring extra large bays is in the final planning stages. Construction on the proposed new hangar complex is slated to begin later this year. The bays will be sold condo style. Buyers will purchase bays in the building and lease the land the hangar sits on. Two units are already confirmed sold, and when a third unit of the five available is presold, construction by local contractors will begin. It will be located south of the Skymaster building and each will house one larger twin engined airplane or two smaller single engined airplanes.

Co-operation and pride in the facility are key factors in maintaining the high standards set by those involved. Scores of volunteers pitch in toward grooming the grounds and general upkeep.

"There is a lot of volunteer work going on behind the scenes," noted Airport Commission member Donna Stauffer. "This is a perfect example of what can be accomplished when different groups work together, like the county, the college, the town, the flying club and others which benefits everyone involved."

The Olds-Didsbury Flying Association has over 100 members on the mailing list, and association president Grant Edwards says even though a lot of work is involved, the members take a lot of pride in maintaining and enhancing the facility. Edwards said co-operation is an integral factor in the day to day operation of the airport and on-going airport enhancement projects.

"[There is] a close working relationship between the Olds-Didsbury Flying Club and the Airport Commission," Edwards said. "Credit must also be given to several club members who donate their time to ensure the facility is maintained and that visitors are warmly welcomed and offered assistance."

"The secret to the success of the airport is that we promote the thing as an asset to the whole area, not just the individual towns," said Ruf May. "In our case our airport is not an expense or a liability. It's a success story. Is what it is."

Those curious about what a community airport is all about are invited to attend the airport open house June 11, 12 and 13.

The open house is a joint presentation of the Recreational Aircraft Association and the Olds-Didsbury Flying Club. There are a multitude of activities scheduled including spot landings, altitude guessing and something you won't want to miss dubbed 'flour bombing'. A pancake breakfast will run Saturday morning and camping will be available on site.

Churches plan March for Jesus

On Saturday, June 12, 1993, at 11 a.m. thousands of people, of all ages from many denominations, race, and affiliations from Alberta and area, will be joining millions of Christians throughout Canada, USA and Europe, in the 2nd International

"March For Jesus".

The March for Jesus will include more than 8,000 people of all ages and races representing more than 25 churches of various denominations and affiliations. The diverse group of participating churches represents an unprecedented expression of unity among Christians in Alberta.

The marchers will be organized into groups of 500 and all will be singing the same songs at the same time thanks to a radio broadcast provided by station CKER 1480 Radio. Each group of 500 marchers carrying colourful banners will be preceded by a sound truck and a March Leader.

The March will culminate at the Legislative Grounds with a program of songs and prayers led by area worship teams.

The March for Jesus is not a protest, but a jubilant, colourful, musical procession of thousands outwardly expressing prayer, praise and proclamation -- prayer for our city, praise to God because He alone deserves it, and proclamation that Jesus is the hope of Alberta.

By celebrating in public, the message of Christ will be brought out of the church buildings and to the location of the March.

For further information contact: March For Jesus, March Office 444-8815, Facsimile 484-3956.

RCMP report

With the onslaught of summer there has been an increase in the activity of dirt bikes in town. Now is a good time for a quick refresher on the rules governing dirt bikes. Dirt bikes are classified as off-highway vehicles and thus are subject to the Off-Highway Vehicle Act. Within this act are sections governing registration and insurance. All off-highway vehicles must be registered and insured unless they are being used on land with the owners permission. No off-highway vehicles are permitted to operate within the town limits of Didsbury. Finally, anyone under the age of 14 must have an adult present either riding with the individual or in close proximity.

During the month of April 1993, Didsbury R.C.M.P. responded to a total of 332 complaints. Of these 66 were criminal code related including 7 impaired driving charges, 17 motor vehicle accidents were reported, 39 traffic tickets, 26 written warnings, 9 liquor tickets and 2 twenty-four hour suspensions were issued.

Peace Run participants come to Didsbury

by Elaine Wilson

Shortly before one p.m. on May 30, Peace Runners arrived in Didsbury carrying a flaming torch which they say "lights a path for those who follow."

Peace Runners International is a non-profit organization based in the United States. They are not affiliated with any fund raising cause or political organization. Inspired by the efforts of international peace ambassador Sri Chinmoy, individuals from over eighty nations are currently participating in the Peace Run to keep their vision of world peace visible and accessible to anyone who wishes to join the runners or simply cheer them on.

Peace Runners from all corners of the globe left the United Nations building in April and in Canada four separate runs blanketing most of the country are now a little past the halfway point.

Combining sports and a dream, the Sri Chinmoy Marathon Team puts on hundreds of athletic events every year including several world class marathons and triathlons in dozens of countries around the world.

A wide assortment of celebrities and world leaders have endorsed or participated in the Peace Run since its inception in 1989 including Carly Simon, Brian Mulroney, Arnold Schwarzenegger, Pope John Paul and Olympic champion Carl Lewis who has actively participated in every run held so far.

Lach Walesa, president of Poland, has been quoted as saying the Peace Run is "a wonderful opportunity for all of us to show oneness independent of race, nationality and religious and political belief."

Malik Erven, director of the western Canada leg, says the symbolic torch was lit at the starting point in New York in April.

"It's a peace run and we feel that athletics and the pursuit of peace can go together," Erven said. "We feel that peace is not something to be left entirely to the political process or the diplomatic process. As individuals we can feel more harmonious, more at peace with other individuals and with people from the communities we visit. It's more on a grass roots level."

Funding for essentials such as food and gasoline for the pace car and van are provided out of the runner's own pockets.

"The individual members of the team all contribute something," Erven explained. "The pace car is my personal car. Everyone pays for their own meals. It's not that great of an expense. It's a great way to see the country and meet people. We feel very strongly about what we're trying to accomplish. It's a great experience. It really is."

Most of the Peace Runners who came to Didsbury were based in British Columbia, although one runner was from Toronto and another was originally from Montreal. One runner who entered Canada as a refugee from Minsk is now a landed immigrant.

"The people are similar," he responded softly when asked to compare Canada to Russia, "but the political systems are quite different."

"We have a big ceremony tomorrow in Calgary," Erven noted, "and from there we turn west towards Banff. We'll go through Cochrane, Revelstoke, MLA Roy Brassard and Mayor Ray Lea congratulated the Peace Run participants who enjoyed refreshments provided by the town of Didsbury and Didsbury High School grads.

Golden, Vernon Kelowna and Penticton."

When asked if he was looking forward to trading mid-sixties degree weather in Alberta for Okanagan heat, Erven said the temperature in Didsbury suited him just fine.

"Actually, I'll tell you honestly, this is great weather for running. I ran about eleven kilometres this morning between Innisfail and Bowden and it seemed like it was all uphill."

The final goal is Victoria B.C. which the runners will reach on June 13.

term care. I hear (from our three hospitals) that it hasn't been working. We want it adjusted.

We can't afford to lose anymore health care workers. We'd take a look at a new model and get a labor market adjustment team in, focus on the preventative side. Everybody is saying the same thing, that we need to look more into the preventative side. They see it as a very exciting idea. We see the hospitals being used as clinics, and more than just a medical care facility. More than just a place where sick people go. They can have mental health and all types of care.

I think medical services should be done locally, although there are emergency cases which have to go to (the larger hospitals) because of their nature. To keep these things though, we have to look at that HPI again. Usually emergency cases are taken to local hospitals where they are stabilized before taking off to the larger centre. But the HPI doesn't fund stabilization. The local hospitals aren't being adequately funded as a result.

We are not advocating user fees. That is more symbolic and is seen by us as a tax. It's not that straightforward either. What we have to do is look at various ways to increase revenue. Use our imagination.
